A WORD FROM THE President

Dear Colleagues,

In the last couple of years, neuroradiology has become one of the medical field's key disciplines. Age-related, neurodegenerative conditions bear challenges for us as diagnosticians. Just like vascular diseases, that are alsofrequently attributable to the patient's age, challenge us as therapists. Most recent findings of international studies confirm that the mechanical recanalization of ischemic strokes developed in our discipline has resulted in excellent outcomes.

The German Society of Neuroradiology with its more than 1,000 members is the biggest neuroradiological organisation in Europe.
It navigates the multifaceted scientific activities of our discipline. Become a member of a quickly growing as well as diversely dedicated community and benefit from the dvantages of our specialist society.

On behalf of GSN's board, I am looking forward to welcoming you as one of our new members in the near future.

Kind regards,

Prof. Dr. med. Arnd Dörfler

ABOUT
the GSN

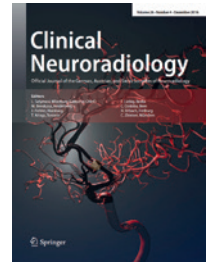
Certification Interventional neuroradiology plays a key role in the acute treatment of strokes. The phased approach of the GSIRMIT/GSN offers a structured as well as qualified advanced education and provides for a nationwide coverage of well-trained neurointerventionalists in Germany.

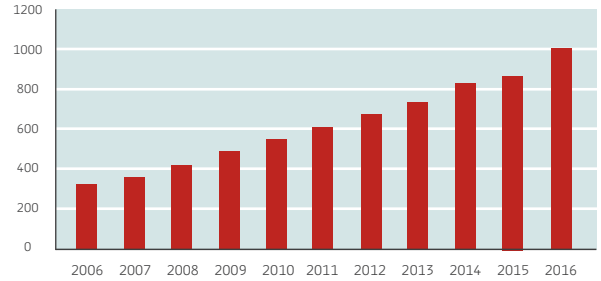
Representation of Interests As a scientific specialist society, the GSN is involved in the decision-making processes of the German Medical Association or the Federal Joint Committee (Gemeinsamer Bundesausschuss, G-BA). Additionally, board members of the GSN represent German neuroradiology in European organisations (UEMS, ESNR, ESMINT).

ABOUT
the GSN



The Clinical Neuroradiology (CNR) is one of the most highly regarded magazines in the area of diagnostic and interventional neuroradiology.

A Growing Community Development of the number of members 2006-2016: GSN's number of members has doubled since 2006.



Awards Every year during the Neurorad, the specialist society awards prices to outstanding research projects.
